VOLUNTARY ANNOUNCEMENT

Chinasoft Partners with Hong Kong to Set a New Benchmark for the World-Class Kai Tak Sports Park

Chinasoft International Limited (referred to as “Chinasoft” or the “Company”) is releasing this announcement as a voluntary disclosure to inform the public of the latest information regarding the Company.

The Company is pleased to announce that recently, the Kai Tak Sports Park in Hong Kong was inaugurated. As one of the core contractors for the new-generation intelligent venue application system of the Kai Tak Sports Park, Chinasoft has set a new benchmark for the construction of operation systems and intelligent services in large-scale international intelligent venues.

As Hong Kong’s largest sports and entertainment complex, the smart infrastructure of Kai Tak Sports Park demonstrates Chinasoft’s leading position in the industry and core technological strengths. By integrating AI, big data, IoT, intelligent imaging and digital analysis, Chinasoft has developed a comprehensive smart venue solution encompassing key applications such as command center operations, physical security, crowd analytics, and venue booking management. This enables full visibility, control, and management of the entire sports complex, significantly enhancing operational efficiency while providing a safer, more convenient, and intelligent experience for spectators, athletes, and operators. The successful launch of Kai Tak Sports Park not only underscores Chinasoft’s capabilities in deploying AI, IoT, intelligent imaging and digital analysis in real-world applications, but also establishes a scalable technology framework for future government and enterprise digitalization projects. The achievements of this project have received high recognition from the Hong Kong government and the international industry, laying a strong foundation for the company’s brand expansion in the Greater Bay Area and overseas markets.

Looking ahead, Chinasoft remains committed to its core philosophy of “Empowering Industries through Technology”. Taking Kai Tak Sports Park as a starting point, the Company will seize the strategic opportunity of Hong Kong’s technological advancement, deepen collaborations with local enterprises, the government, and academic institutions, and contribute to the digital transformation of public sector infrastructure, data governance, and integrated service operations. With continuous innovation in large-scale IT infrastructure projects, Chinasoft will actively support Hong Kong’s vision of becoming a global innovation and technology hub, while driving the integration of smart city development and the Greater Bay Area with cutting-edge technological solutions.
